BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — A severe earthquake hit central and northeast Colombia at dawn today, and officials said four persons were killed — two of them by a falling church steeple. Damage was reported heavy in northeast, near the Venezuelan border.

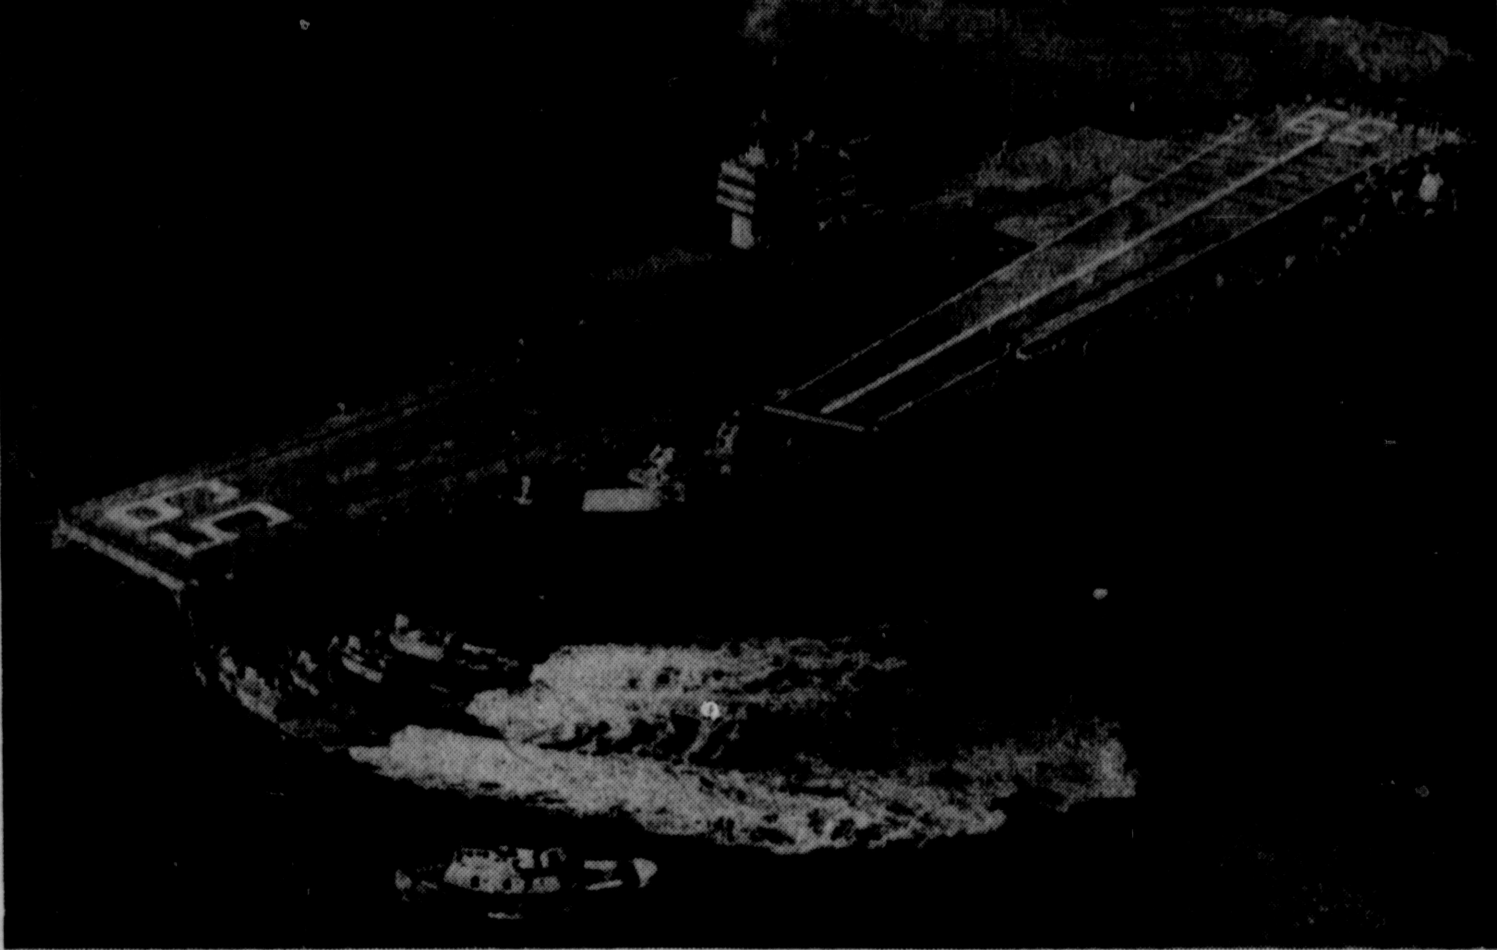

Take to Streets
In Bogota, the earthquake sent thousands running in panic from their beds into a cold rain. They wore only pajamas and were wrapped in blankets. Police reported no deaths or serious damage in this capital.

Occurred at 4:28 A. M.
The earthquake occurred at 4:28 a.m. and lasted 30 seconds, the Andes Geophysical Institute reported.

It said the hardest-hit area seemed to be Santander state about 220 miles northeast of Bogota.

Heavy Damage
One person was reported killed there but heavy damage was reported to many churches and other buildings.

The church steeple fell on two persons in Libano, about 250 miles southwest of Bogota.

New PO Opening Aug. 21 At Cornell Street Location

By CHARLES BERMPOHL
The Kingston Post Office and Post Office Annex will move to the new building located at 90 Cornell Street on August 20, Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk made known this morning.

Services conducted at the 500 Broadway office will end and postal help will service the public at the new Cornell Street location starting Monday, Aug. 21, he added.

Started in 1966
Construction on the new building began on Oct. 1, 1966 at a cost of $1.3 million. The site for many years was used as a ball park and was known as the Athletic Field. It was part of the property formerly owned by Edward Coykendall and the J. W. Matthews Co. Inc.

Old Site in 1907
The new office has an interior floor space of 34,590 square feet, a platform of 4,600 square feet, and a parking area of 44,681 square feet.

Selkirk Crash Kills 2; 12 Injured in Area

By HUGH REYNOLDS
Two children were killed and 12 persons injured in a series of accidents Friday night and early this morning in the upper Hudson Valley.

Mary Olewski, 16 and Ruben Garrison, 11, died in a head-on collision on the Thruway near Selkirk Friday night. Injured in that crash, according to the Associated Press were, Mrs. Margaret Garrison, the boy's mother, who was driving, and Patricia Sill, 19, and Mr. and Mrs. Berlow of Oradell, N. J., occupants of the other car.

Five persons were injured in an accident at 3:30 a. m. this morning on Rt. 23A near Rt. 214 in Greene County.

The driver of one of the vehicles, Glendon W. Foley, 58, of Cairo, was charged with driving while intoxicated by investigating State Trooper Allan Parker.

Troopers said Foley backed out of a driveway and the vehicle was struck by a car driven by Robert Canfield, 21, of Oleona. Injured in the Canfield car were Elizabeth Trainor, 21, of West Barrington, R. I., who suffered a broken wrist and elbow; Richard De-russo of Arlington, Mass., contusions to the head and the driver, chest injuries and lacerations to the head.

Injured in the Foley car included Anna Bishop, 47, of Cairo, lacerations to the face and Frank Stuard, 76, also of Cairo, lacerations to the head.

In Kingston, Isabella Thomson, 65, of Van Dale Road, West Hurley was taken to Kingston Hospital after she reportedly collided with a car at the corner of Maiden Lane and Clinton Avenue last night.

According to police, a car operated by Michael Hecht of Flushing was traveling west on Maiden Lane, ran a stop sign and hit the Thomson vehicle.

Slippery conditions on the Taconic Parkway in the Town of LaGrange in Dutchess County were blamed for a one-car accident that injured an East Elmhurst, L. I. couple.

Injured were Clement Ross, and his wife Edith, both 52, when their car skidded off the road and hit a tree. Ross complained of whiplash and his wife suffered a fractured wrist and arm.

Under the Post Office Department's lease construction program, the successful bidder purchased the designated property and constructed the building according to departmental specifications. The building is then leased to the Post Office Department for 20 years with separate and consecutive five-year renewal options.

Former Postmaster General John A. Gronowski had announced the original plans for the new building and he said at the time that the new building would be designed to provide a more effective postal service and improved working conditions for employees.

The new building is adjacent to the West Shore Railroad tracks. The old central office was built in 1907 with an addition built some 31 years ago. The original building, of the familiar circular design, was constructed at a cost of $110,000.

On July 1, 1965, postal employees moved into the Annex on Pine Grove Avenue. A total of 19,000 square feet was utilized in the former Fuller Shirt factory.

Postmaster Newkirk announced in March of 1965 that the extension would involve 80 to 85 area communities instead of the 55 to 60 then being served. Added were communities in an area known as the Windham Mountain Run.

The J. H. Schoonmaker and Son Company of Florence Street, was the contractor renovating the Fuller Building which, at the time, was owned by the Pilgrim Furniture Company of Greenkill Avenue.

Hopes in 1958
Construction of the new office was held up for quite a while. The city had hopes of gaining a new building back in 1958 and action was taken in that direction, but the economics of the time would not permit it.

Both former Congressman J. Ernest Wharton and Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson had emphasized the need for a modernized post office building in Kingston, but it was not until 1966 that a contract was awarded and work begun.

It has been emphasized that all boxholders having boxes at 500 Broadway are to pick up their mail by 2 p. m., Sunday, Aug. 20.

26 Known Dead In Flaming Sea Holocaust

SAIGON (AP) — Flames and explosions killed at least 26 men and destroyed or damaged 29 U.S. jet planes today in a holocaust aboard the aircraft carrier Forrestal off North Vietnam.

Many Hurt, Missing
The U.S. Command announced many others among the mammoth ship's 4,300-man crew were injured or missing in the fire and blasting of bombs, rockets and fuel set off on the flight deck by flames from an exploding A4E Skyhawk.

Authorities said it would take some time to establish an accurate casualty count. Some of the missing leaped from the flight deck into the sea to escape the flames.

"There are a number injured and unaccounted for," a Saigon headquarters announcement said. "The Forrestal and all other assisting ships are conducting a count to determine accurately the number of casualties."

Although the command said it had no hard figures except for the 26 known dead, other sources said at least 41 men were injured. Later counts were expected to send this toll far higher.

The U.S. Command said "persons unaccounted for may include those transferred to other ships by helicopter for medical treatment and others who jumped from the flight deck into the water to avoid the fire and were picked up by other ships."

The grim disaster far overshadowed the scattered land fighting, throwing into the background even a fierce Communist mortar and rocket barrage on four key outposts guarding Saigon early today.

Most of the Forrestal casualties were flown to the carriers Oriskany and Bon Homme Richard.

Recent Arrival
The 76,000-ton Forrestal, America's third largest aircraft carrier, had reached Yankee Station in the Gulf of Tonkin just last Tuesday. From her post 150 miles north-northeast of Dong Hoi, North Vietnam, the Forrestal had begun launching bombing raids against Communist facilities.

Late today, with some fires still smoldering, the Forrestal left her battle station and steamed under her own power toward an undisclosed port.

Many of the planes ruined in the blaze had been spotted for the first morning strikes, lined up behind the catapults, some carrying bomb loads and extra fuel tanks of up to 10,000 pounds.

As the Forrestal headed into the wind to launch strikes this morning, 35-mile-per-hour gusts swept over the vast flight deck and a loaded auxiliary fuel tank dropped from an A4E Skyhawk fighter jet. The fuel was somehow ignited by a superhot steam catapult.

Deck Mass of Flames
Within minutes the flight deck was a mass of flames and bombs, rockets and fuel tanks went off wildly. The flames and explosions thrust into the cavernous hangar deck where ammunition, rockets and bombs were being readied for the next strike.

The nearest vessels were the destroyers Rupertus and Tucker which knifed alongside and aimed spewing firehoses at the 1,000-foot flight deck which towered high above them.

Officers and men at battle stations grappled with the spreading fire. Groups of men manhandled 1,000-pound bombs over the side. More men pushed damaged, burning jet aircraft into the Tonkin Gulf.

The Navy reported that the worst of the flames on the Forrestal's flight deck were contained after an hour and 18 minutes of heroic effort.

New Disturbance

Two policemen were injured as the Dutchess County city endured its second straight night of racial disturbances.

The officers, Frank Stokes and Richard Brady were hit by bricks and bottles hurled from rooftops in lower Main Street, a predominantly Negro area.

Their injuries were described as minor by a police spokesman.

200-300 in Crowd
In addition to the 75 officers of the Poughkeepsie Police Department, there were approximately 50 sheriff's deputies, according to Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan.

Sheriff Quinlan estimated the crowd at between 200 and 300 persons. There were between 25 and 30 arrests, Quinlan told The Freeman this morning. Most of the arrests, which included both Negroes and whites, were on disorderly conduct charges.

Quinlan said there was some shooting during the disturbance which started shortly after midnight and continued until about 5 a. m. The Dutchess County sheriff reported that someone fired at police from a rooftop with what was believed to be a rifle of small calibre. Police fired back but no one was hit.

There were no fires reported and little looting. The bars remained open, according to police, although they were closed Thursday night during disturbances.

Last night's trouble reportedly began with the arrest of a Negro, identified as Thomas Lee Henry, on an assault second charge.

Widespread disturbances were reported around the state by the Associated Press. In Albany, heavily armed policemen patrolled the downtown section of that city following disturbances Thursday night by young Negroes.

Isolated Incidents
Only isolated incidents were reported Friday night, in contrast to Thursday night and early Friday, when bands of young Negroes roamed for four hours through the city's main business district. Rocks and bricks were thrown through many store windows and several persons were cut by glass. About 10 persons were injured, none seriously.

In Mt. Vernon, police reported a new outbreak of bottles and rock-throwing late Friday night. Mayor Joseph Vaccarello hours earlier had lifted the curfew that had been imposed because of racial violence. He authorized bars and liquor stores, closed for two days, to reopen Saturday morning.

Others Bent on Riot Probes

Panel Competition

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's Advisory Committee on Civil Disorders organized today, faced with fast-paced competition from congressional committees bent on making their own probes of city riots.

Even before commission members, headed by Democratic Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois, could meet with the President at the White House, Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said a new inquiry may be added to several already scheduled to begin soon in the Senate and House.

McClellan, who heads the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee, already said Johnson's direction to the commission to come up with recommendations to alleviate "the conditions that breed despair and violence" will result in "the same old story—just spend more money."

The Arkansas senator told an interviewer he is considering a resolution to give the subcommittee broad powers to conduct "a proper and thorough investigation" of the rioting. He said in this field the group now is limited to inquiries into interstate or organized crime.

The House is scheduled to take up a crime control bill Monday with prospects a number of amendments aimed at curbing civil disturbances will be offered.

The Senate Judiciary Committee starts televised public hearings Wednesday on a House-passed bill to make it a federal crime to cross state lines with the intent of inciting a riot.

These hearings likely will range far and wide into the subject of racial violence.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen applauded Johnson's appointments to the 11-member commission, but said establishment of the inquiry group won't sidetrack Congress' desire to investigate.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield agreed.

Kerner said Friday in Chicago he expects the commission to have the help of all government agencies. He said Johnson had indicated the entire Justice Department would be available for aid, including the FBI.

Kerner said there is no room in America for troublemakers "who would wish to change the course of our democracy."

Katherine Peden, Kentucky commissioner of commerce and the only woman named to the presidential panel, said in Louisville that job opportunity is a major key to easing racial disorders.

"There's going to have to be a massive job program for these people and private enterprise is going to have to accept some responsibility, too," she said.

Paltz Red Carpet Week Aug. 6-13

Stone House Day Ushers in Busy Schedule

A unique vacation opportunity will be offered by the Village of New Paltz, during the second week in August when it both opens the doors of its Huguenot past and invites visitors of all ages to enjoy its richly varied present for 1967 Red Carpet Week.

On Stone House Day, Saturday, August 5, interest centers on historical Huguenot Street with its original stone houses dating from 1692, each with costumed hostesses to explain points of interest. A pageant produced by the community depicts the founding of the settlement. A bazaar of early and contemporary crafts is sponsored by the Reformed Church.

The past blends with the present during the entire following week, Aug. 6 through Aug. 13, called Red Carpet Week. Over 40 events will make the 1967 Red Carpet Week a pleasure for the entire family as they include concerts, sport and recreation opportunities, theatre, art exhibits, visits to historical points of interest, tours and events at the State University College at New Paltz, and special events for teenagers and for the younger children.

Musical events range from a symphony concert by the 90-piece orchestra of the Mid-Atlantic Music Camp at Lake Minnewaska to a community sing, and includes a special piano concert, a string quartet, a lecture-demonstration of violin-making and a choral music reading concert.

Of special interest to outdoorsmen will be the demonstration of falconry by Heinz Meng. Other outdoor activities include swimming, boating, golf and hiking in the beautiful mountain resort areas of Lake Minnewaska and Lake Mohonk, tours of the Wild Bird Refuge and lectures at the New York

State Conservation Building in addition to the dairy and horse shows at the Ulster County Fair.

Ninety Miles Off Broadway, the community theatre, will present one-act plays by Williams, Jackson and Kaufman especially for visitors to Red Carpet Week. Two art exhibitions, one of the work of local artists and the other of the work of art students at the State University College, will be open during the entire week.

An unusual luncheon-fashionshow will feature knitted and crocheted fashions, all of which can be created by hand. Visitors interested in the history of the Mid-Hudson Valley will enjoy seeing the Street of the Huguenots, the operating Tuthilltown Grist Mill and demonstrations of the vanishing art of the Village Blacksmith. Edgar Beebe will share his personal letters and memories with those interested in the Civil War as it effected this area.

New Paltz is rightfully proud that it is the home of the rapidly growing State University College where visitors may see a special Planetarium showing, visit classes in ceramics or folk dancing, tour many of the new facilities, hear a piano concert, see an art exhibit and enjoy a Children's Theatre Production.

Information concerning dates and times of each of the many events planned especially for 1967 Red Carpet Week may be had by writing the New Paltz Chamber of Commerce, Post Office Box 431, or by stopping by the Chamber's Information Booth on Upper Main Street in New Paltz.

Beside the Children's Theatre, events of special interest to younger visitors include entertainment and free swimming at Mariello Park, a teen Block dance, daily participation in the New Paltz Recreation Commission program, and a visit to the Walkill Valley Miniature Railroad with its remarkable railroad museum.

Information concerning dates and times of each of the many events planned especially for 1967 Red Carpet Week may be had by writing the New Paltz Chamber of Commerce, Post Office Box 431, or by stopping by the Chamber's Information Booth on Upper Main Street in New Paltz.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

"The Church must get out of her stagnation. We must move out again into the open air of intellectual discussion with the world."

—Dietrich Bonhoeffer

Dr. David Randolph of Drew University Theological School in Madison, N.J., has taken Bonhoeffer's words very seriously and has acted upon them. He has conceived and carries on a ministry he calls "The Church Without Walls."

One night each week he and three or four theological students go to the corner of Eighth avenue and 42nd street in New York City. Their purpose is to go "where the action is" . . . not to "save" or scare with the fires of hell, but to minister to the needs of people who otherwise have no church.

As one of the group is speaking, the others talk with individuals, quietly, forcefully, sometimes questioning, sometimes sympathizing. Dr. Randolph explains, "We have gone to Times Square to listen as well as to speak . . . we have sought to harken to reality as it expresses itself at this point of our culture." He feels that only when they truly understand another's point of view can they be of real service.

"Faith is an event with people, a relationship with God that you act upon in life," says Dr. Randolph.

Priest Totally Involved In War on Poverty Fight

By PAUL ALBRIGHT

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—Aiming at what he calls total involvement in community life, a Roman Catholic priest has been granted an indefinite leave from his church duties to direct New Mexico's multimillion-dollar war on poverty.

Some eyebrows were raised when Gov. David F. Cargo appointed the Rev. Robert Garcia, 32, first as acting director and later permanent director of the state Office of Economic Opportunity this year.

Father Garcia has jumped into his new job with both feet, sometimes kicking up controversy as he works with the federal government to push the war on poverty in many poor New Mexican areas, particularly in the northern portion of the state.

Garcia, who doesn't care if persons use the "father" when addressing him, said he has been called a "rebel" a radical doctrinally unorthodox, and perhaps even a heretic. But the priest, no longer wearing clerical garb, is not concerned about his status in the "institutional" church—that is, the traditional parish approach to community problems and affairs.

"As has been said, we need to bring the church out of the cloister and into the marketplace, out of the temple into the city. What has the church been doing with its head in the temple all these years?"

Garcia wants a fuller involvement in human problems by the clergy, including government, politics, problems of living, and personal assistance. He sees no problem over separation of church and state.

"There is no comparison between the fulfillment of parish work and this work (antipoverty) program," he said. "This is one area where the action is, whereas the parish structure is fairly constrictive in working where the action is."

He said he is "doing more" fully what the pastor is supposed to be doing of what Christian life is supposed to be doing.

He receives $10,500 annually from the state and applies the money to his private use and not to the church.

Reasons Against Anti-Riot Bill Given by RFK

DUNKIRK, N. Y. (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., has stated his opposition to a federal anti-riot bill, saying here Friday the measure would serve no useful purpose "because there are adequate laws" now governing the problem.

Kennedy questioned the constitutionality of the bill, which would make it a federal crime to use state commerce to incite a riot and which passed the House last week by a 347 to 70 vote.

The New York Democrat, however, endorsed both the intent and membership of President Johnson's new special advisory council to investigate race riots. The 11-member panel, announced by the President Thursday night, is headed by Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner. "I think the commission can be very useful," Kennedy remarked to reporters during a trip through Western New York.

Kennedy said he believed most of the racial violence that has occurred in U.S. cities was not triggered by "outside" agitators. "It shows the necessity of doing something about the urban problem," he said, adding that the most acute problem facing urban Negroes was unemployment.

"The sub-employment keeps on increasing despite all the federal programs," he said. The condition stemmed in part from improper funding of the programs, he said.

"We need more private enterprise in the ghetto development," said the senator, who has formulated legislation offering financial incentives for private development of the ghetto areas.

After visiting a community-services workshop in Rochester earlier, Kennedy arrived in nearby Irving and was adopted as a son of the First Seneca Nation in a ceremony at Cattaraugus Indian Reservation. Kennedy's new Indian name translated is "Top of the Crowd." He was made a son of the Wolf Clan.

Traveling with his wife Ethel, Kennedy dedicated the First Seneca Nation plant, a pillow manufacturing company, and then headed on to the Chautauque County Fair here.

Two Killed, 41 Hurt in Bus Mishap

EDWARDSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Two persons were killed and 41 injured, some critically when a bus ricocheted off a bridge and crashed into a small creek, authorities said.

The driver, Melvin C. Harper, 49, of Birmingham, Ala., and an unidentified woman passenger were killed.

State trooper James Hyatt said the bus was sideswiped by a car in a curve on U.S. 78. The car did not stop, he said.

The bus was about halfway on a trip to Birmingham, Ala., from Atlanta, Ga.

Harper managed to keep the bus on the road until it got around the curve but then lost control, police said.

The big vehicle bounced off a railing of the bridge, hurtled sideways into the shallow creek and slammed against a concrete embankment on the opposite side.

Most of the passengers were covered with mud.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JULY 29, 1967

Rat Control Bill Needed

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick and a minority of other Congressmen are to be congratulated for voting for the federal rat extermination bill. Unfortunately the badly-needed measure was defeated by the House, 207-176.

This dangerous animal can carry a multitude of diseases that infect both man and animal. It is also an extremely fertile animal, giving birth up to five litters a year of 10 to 14 offspring each.

Congressmen voting against the bill claimed it was either a municipal, county or state problem and federal intervention in this area would be a violation of home rule concepts.

Home rule is commendable but in this case, local officials have done little about the problem. In Ulster County rat control is implemented only when someone complains.

There is no county or city exterminator who keeps a regular check on these deadly creatures.

We feel this bill should be brought up again and passed this time. It is vital to the health of the nation that this menace be wiped out once and for all. What agency does it is academic.

The Escalator to Success

There's a lot of nice work in Washington if you can get it. One Simon McHugh, a 29-year-old accountant, got some of it, apparently through the happy circumstance of his marriage to a girl who was one of President Johnson's favorite secretaries.

His appointment to a $26,000 post, with a five-year term, on the practically dormant Subversive Activities Control Board has created a furor on Capitol Hill. In tardy reaction somewhat locking the barn door after the horse is stolen, demands for reconsideration of the nomination and abolition of the agency are rising in the Senate.

No one in the Senate raised a question at the occasion of the unanimous vote for confirmation of young Mr. McHugh — an action taken rather hurriedly and admittedly with only a few senators present. The appointment was treated routinely, which apparently had been the hope of the White House.

The board, created 17 years ago to name Communists and their front organizations, has been rendered ineffective by U. S. Supreme Court decisions undermining the law requiring registration of Reds. It conducted its last hearing months ago.

It "burns me up as a taxpayer," says Sen. Allott, Colorado Republican, in branding the appointment an outrage. There must be many who share that sentiment. A "ridiculous extravagance" is the way Sen. Proxmire, Wisconsin Democrat, describes the board. He is going to try to abolish it.

The House already has approved a $295,000 appropriation for the agency for the year ahead. Hearings on the money bill start this week in the Senate. Perhaps now the senators won't be inclined to pass on the appropriation as blithely as they did on the McHugh nomination.

The young man, incidentally, moved into the $26,000 Subversive Activities Control Board sinecure from a $17,550 job in the Small Business Administration, where he went to work subsequent to his marriage to the White House secretary 11 months ago.

That's almost as good as the escalated success of the fellow who weds the boss' daughter.

U. S. The Scapegoat

The agreement between France and West Germany to seek the political and security needs of their two countries in the next decade is aimed at the United States. French President Charles de Gaulle said as much.

First, de Gaulle said that France and Germany must not separate, otherwise it will be impossible to avoid the preponderance of the United States.

Second, that the Common Market be maintained as is, else the group will become an Atlantic system, dominated by the United States.

Third, find in East Europe understanding and co-operation, so that there is something other than the two great blocs of nations.

Fourth, there shall be a European security conference—a meshing of East and West Europe, for security against whom?

Each one of these conditions, which de Gaulle said will safeguard "the national personalities" of France and Germany, in fact seek to trade their partnership with the United States for a partnership with the Soviet Union.

If de Gaulle thinks Western Europe is dominated now by the United States, what does he expect if and when he takes France and Germany into his European security conference? He will be swapping the proven friendship and support of the United States for that of the untried Soviet Union. Instead of another choice, he will really have a more dominant and demanding partner. He is letting his hostility to the United States trap him in the Soviet bear's arms.

Domestic Peace Corps for Races

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, July 28 — The remedy for the epidemic of riots and disorders sweeping America today is not to be found only in the development of better living conditions for persons of all races residing in congested cities but in better means of communication between governmental authority and the people. A new kind of "Peace Corps" is needed.

Baseless rumors of alleged injustices and brutal treatment would never have been accepted as factual by masses of people if it had not been for suspicions and bitter feelings aroused beforehand by demagogic speakers in street "demonstrations" and "marches." Incitement to disorder as a result of these utterances has gone unpunished and even defended as "freedom of speech." But there has been no effective counter-effort — unquestionably permissible under "freedom of speech" — to spread truth so as to overcome false charges and to produce a false feeling between Negroes and Whites in troubled communities.

Youths Involved

Youths have been responsible for many of the crimes and much of the looting and hoodlums. Lots of the young people don't read speeches or listen to radio, but they have been antagonized by the kind of things they hear in neighborhood gangs on street corners. Whites who misbehave can be reached by other whites, and Negroes can be counseled by fellow Negroes. Then mixed groups can be chosen to carry further the process of promoting a better understanding between races. Careful training of such a peace-making corps will be necessary. Benefits can be derived by everybody if the destructive influence of racial friction is superseded by the constructive consultations of groups striving to reason with each other.

The problem is not confined to America. Riots have broken out in almost every free country and, indeed, in some police-state areas. The collateral effects of the enormous expansion of the world's population have been underestimated. Systems of government that have succeeded when the majority have been passively content with their economic condition now are faced with demands for sociological improvements which cost vast sums of money. These funds, however, can be collected in taxes only from the trained and educated segments of the community wherein individual talent has been given the opportunity to apply initiative and inventive ability.

Peace Corps

The "Peace Corps" idea which came into operation during the administration of the late President Kennedy has been applied abroad with considerable success, though its advantages are not always immediately apparent. There are some among those enlisted in the movement who have not yet learned how to get along with people in other countries and advance the basic cause of human brotherhood. Progress nevertheless is being made, and what has been done externally can be accomplished internally.

There is a tendency inside in America have done as much as they might have to prevent the outbreak of disorders in our cities. When some ministers of the gospel urge "non-violence" while raising passions to the point of an uncontrollable violence, dedicated clergymen as well as laymen are needed to reason with them. For only by utilizing the processes of person-to-person communication can peaceful living be achieved in the world today. Copyright, 1967, Publishers-Hall Syndicate The United States to regard racial controversies as solvable solely by the exercise of rigid discipline. It is important, of course, to hold "Teach-Ins" to widen respect for law and order. But while disorders may be lessened this way to some extent, the roots of the trouble will not be eradicated just by threats of punishment. Gangs hitherto have frequently terrorized neighborhoods in cities where racial friction has been unknown or insignificant. Bitterness is not always due to conflicts between persons of different color, though racial consciousness is sometimes emphasized to a degree that influences human behavior and causes outbursts of violence.

Much harm is being done by those who hypocritically prate of "non-violence" yet incite to violence the ignorant or the misinformed. One wonders whether the clergy

Johnson, A Beleaguered President

By JAMES MARLOW

AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — These have been a painful couple of years to President Johnson. The sun was shining, or he thought so. Then the storm broke and he was standing in the midst of thunder and lightning.

It was just a little over two years ago — in June 1965 — that he told the graduating class of Howard University here: "Our earth is the home of revolution."

In this speech, acknowledging the injustice inflicted on the American Negro for centuries, Johnson said: "Nothing is more freighted with meaning for our own destiny than the revolution of the American Negro."

Not Violence

He did not mean revolution

by violence in this country but by progress. He wasn't thinking of violence then.

But this week the loud-mouthed leader of a Negro organization, the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee, H. Rap Brown said: "We stand on the eve of a black revolution."

Brown had been charged with inciting a riot in Cambridge, Md., where Negroes burned down the center of the Negro section while riots devastated Detroit and swept other cities from coast to coast.

A month after his Howard University talk Johnson pledged himself to a major effort to solve the problems confronting Negroes. "I am going to provide all the leadership I can," he said.

But less than a month after that Negro rioters saturated the Los Angeles section of Watts with killings, burning and looting. This shocked the nation and Johnson, too.

He quickly made another speech deploring violence, denouncing the Watts upheaval, declaring riots must be exposed and dealt with in the same way as klansmen in sheets and masks.

He tried to find words to describe rioters, white or Negro, but, as it turned out he was a lot more restrained than he was going to be later. He said at that time: "A rioter with a Molotov cocktail in his hands is not fighting for civil rights any more than a klansman with a sheet on his back and a mask on his face."

"They are both more or less

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

July 29, 1947 — Booker T. Washington memorial half dollars were on sale at the uptown Freeman office.

Frederick Snyder of 34 Lucas Avenue suggested that the proposed Kingston bridge be dedicated to the memory of deceased area veterans.

July 29, 1957 — A Philadelphia seaman aboard a tanker lost his life trying to rescue three persons whose canoe had overturned in the Hudson River near Rhinecliff.

It was reported that 9,815 persons made use of the recreation facilities in Kingston's parks and playgrounds in the past week.

what the law declared them: lawbreakers."

Mournful

He sounded a little mournful and very frustrated as he spoke on the heels of the Watts riots and looked back on his years in Congress and the presidency.

"During the past decade," he said, "more of my energy has been spent on protecting and preserving and writing into law, through the legislative halls, the rights of all Americans than I have spent on any single subject or any half-dozen subjects."

And there is no doubt he has done more, and worked harder on civil rights than any President in history. But all this wasn't enough to stop the disaster shaping up, for in the past two weeks the United States has had the most violent, riotous condition ever.

And Thursday night, a little tougher than in 1965,

Johnson addressed the nation again, making a distinction between the rioters and the rest of the Negro community.

"Let there be no mistake about it," he said, "the looting, arson, plunder and pillage which have occurred are not part of the civil rights protest . . . Crime must be dealt with force — fully, swiftly — under law."

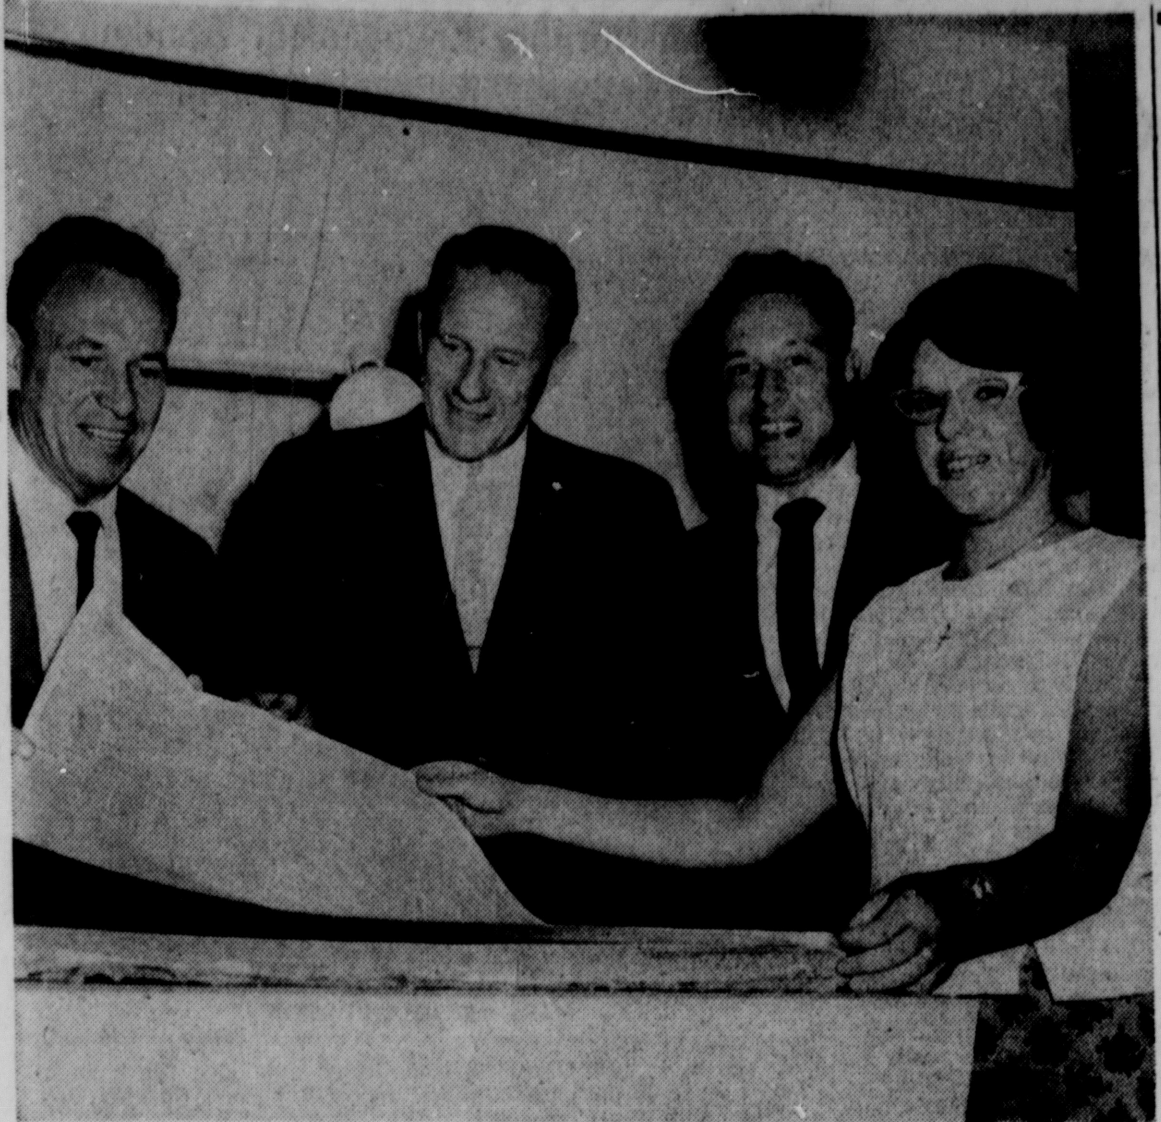

"The criminals who committed these acts of violence against the people deserve to be punished. Explanations may be offered but nothing can excuse what they have done."

He called for stern police action, for more legislation to ease the poverty which breeds crime, for tolerance by whites instead of anti-Negro attitudes which might result from the riots, and he set up a commission to study the riots and their causes and to make recommendations for preventing or controlling them.

Democratic Proposal

Move to Open Forest Preserve

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A veteran Democratic delegate will move in the Constitutional Convention Monday to open the state's forest preserve to permit greater recreational use and removal of trees when necessary.

Francis Bergan of Albany said today he would offer an amendment to the proposition that would maintain the present prohibition which requires keeping the preserve "forever wild." The proposition will be up for adoption when the convention returns to action Monday afternoon.

Bergan, a judge of the Court of Appeals, is one of two delegates who also served in the 1938 convention.

He told the current gathering a few weeks ago that the "forever wild" restriction should be lifted.

"The lands owned by all the people," he said today, "should be developed for the use and enjoyment of the many and not the few. This is impossible while the average person is kept out of the forest lands he owns by the antiquated constitutional policy."

Bergan's amendment would permit wider use of the lands for recreation, would allow construction of more access roads and trails and authorize what he called "the institution of sound conservation procedures."

This, he said, "would include the removal of trees when good forestry practice indicates removal."

It also would place the preserve under the control of a "trusteeship" comprised of the governor, the GOP leaders of the Legislature, the state conservation commissioner and the chief judge of the Court of Appeals.

UAW Renews Pitch for Profit Share

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union, eyeing the problems of negotiating for a big money package when auto industry profits are down, has made another pitch for profit-sharing.

A position paper on the subject was presented to General Motors Friday after the automotive giant reported a decline in profits from last year.

"This proposal would mean that they could come back each year for a second cut," said Earl R. Bramblett, GM's director of labor relations.

Ford Motor Co., Chrysler Corp. and GM all reported declines in profits for the second quarter of 1967.

Ford reported net income of $146.5 million, equal of $1.34 per share. This compared with $216.9 million in the second quarter of 1966 and a per-share equivalent of $1.97.

Ford said fewer sales and higher cost of labor and materials cut into the profits.

Vehicles sales, the firm said, were down 13 per cent for the quarter from the same period last year.

GM had reported a drop in first six-months earnings from $1.1 billion in 1966 to $902 million this year.

Chrysler Corp. said its earnings fell $50 million in the first six months of the year.

The UAW pointed out that few major contracts expired in 1966, a boom year, and that now that the unions are able to get to the bargaining table, the pickings are poorer.

The position paper said any "profits that would be shared would be what was left after all costs had been met."

The union made it clear that it wanted profit-sharing addition to major gains in wages and fringe benefits.

Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president, said after presenting the paper, "There was a total lack of response, if silence is a lack of response."

The UAW asked profit-sharing in 1961 and 1964 and was turned down both times.

Neither Ford nor Chrysler has responded to the demand, but Bramblett said GM's "position has been pretty clear over the years and I don't see any change."

"The UAW already has presented demands which comprise the largest package in the history of collective bargaining, all of which cost hard cash," he added.

LAUNDRY STARCHES FOR SUMMER EASE

Laundry starches, if used correctly, can help to make clothes look and feel better and stay clean longer. One extra day of wear can save a lot of ironing. Have you wondered about the difference between various starching agents on the market? Asks Phyllis W. Barlow, Extension Home Economist.

True starches are manufactured from vegetable products. For many years the only kind known was hot water starch, but today we also have instant cold water starch and concentrated liquid starch.

Synthetic stiffeners are often called starch but they are a synthetic rather than a vegetable product. They may be purchased either in spray cans or a liquid. The liquid stiffeners may be diluted with either warm or cold water. Available are both soluble stiffeners which wash out during each laundering and permanent stiffeners which remain on the fabric through several washings.

Cost of the product, convenience of application, and its appearance and durability upon the fabric will govern your choice of starch. Spray starches are about seven times as expensive as liquid and the liquid ones are about seven times as expensive as dry and precooked flakes. Their convenience follows the order of their cost.

Except for rayon, synthetic fibers do not absorb moisture and will not be benefited by starches, however, may provide a desirable finish on such fabrics as nylon, Dacron, and Orlon. New cotton garments which have a resin finish may not need to be starched, but as the finish wears off, either a vegetable or synthetic stiffener can be used to restore some of the crisp appearance.

Cleopatra was the last of a line that had ruled Egypt for nearly 300 years.

Kuniyoshi Highlights Storm King

Famous name painters predominate among the original works of art in a variety of mediums now on exhibit at The Storm King Art Center, Old Pleasant Hill Road, Mountainville, N. Y. Canvases being shown have been selected from the permanent collection of the Art Students League of New York and there is more than passing variety in the 46 examples of painting, watercolor, gouache, pastel, lithograph and bronze being shown.

Gallery-goers will immediately recognize such names as Yasuo Kuniyoshi, Edward Millman, and Eugene Speicher, the late, great Woodstock painters. Represented, too, are such present day Woodstock artists as Arnold Blanch and John Taylor. And, in addition to other great artists and teachers from other areas, Louis Bouché and Paul Fene and the late Reginald Marsh, all of whom have had close contact with the Ulster County art colony, are being exhibited at Storm King.

Kuniyoshi's "Mask" lithograph is, of course, one of the highlights of the show. Other familiar favorites include: Women in the Store by Kenneth Hayes Miller; Tammany Hall, 14th Street, N. Y. City 1911 by John Sloan; Gas Tanks by Edwin Dickinson and Jon Corbino's "Crucifixion."

In offering portions of the League's permanent collection for exhibition at Storm King, Stewart Klonis executive director of the ASL, made note of the fact that the New York and Woodstock branches of the League are not conventional educational institutions. The League has gained its reputation, he says, through its lack of entrance requirements, prescribed course of study, complimentary attendance and system of granting no diplomas.

Since it was founded in 1875, it has been operated by a Board of Control, which has charge of all concerns of the group and which is comprised of artists and artists only who are or were students of the League.

If the exhibit at the Storm King Center offers proof of anything, it points up the League's belief that only artists can teach artists. Many of the eminent artist-teachers who have served on the League staff are included in this exhibit and many others are not. But the works now on view at admission free Mountaintop through Aug. 30 (afternoons daily except Monday) stand as proof that the ASL allows no interference with instructor methods in classrooms and that its dedication to complete freedom has produced teachers and students of national reputation.

Doing the Right Thing By Elizabeth Post

PET-LOVING LADY TAKEN ADVANTAGE OF BY NEIGHBORS

The following letter has been chosen as the prize-winning one for this week. A copy of Emily Post's Etiquette has been sent to Mrs. Cavana of Paterson, N. J.

Dear Mrs. Post: I love animals very much, but the neighbors take advantage by practically dumping their pets on me. A bachelor who lives next door has a dog the size of a small horse. He thinks I'm the dog's fairy godmother, but I am not, and neither is my husband who pays over 30 cents a can for the dog food — 10 cans a week.

Next door to this man lives a couple with a shepherd puppy and a small child who tortures the pup which comes and hides under my bed all day. I don't know what to do. My husband is furious with me for not being able to keep these pets out of our house. Now a neighbor has brought home two of the scraggiest kittens you could imagine. Guess what? I got them. How can you turn out something helpless. Is there a way out? I don't want to call the S.P.C.A. I love the poor things, but I can't take care of all of them.

— Peg Cavana.

Dear Mrs. Cavana: It sounds to me as if you're going to have to choose between the pets and your husband.

I love animals, too, and I sympathize with you, but the time has come to stop being a "patsy" and letting the neighbors take advantage of your soft-heartedness. Tell your bachelor neighbor that he will have to make other arrangements for his "small horse." Blame it on your husband if you need a reason — he'll be glad to be a scapegoat if it will save him 30 cents a day. Take the kittens to the S.P.C.A. They do a wonderful job in finding homes for stray animals, especially young ones. It may be hard to do, but it's easier than finding a new husband.

Dear Mrs. Post: Our social group in my home town made it a practice to have the hostess served last, whether a maid was serving or the host was serving at a family dinner. I notice that in my present location, the hostess is invariably served first. Has the etiquette on this changed? I would appreciate knowing just what the correct practice is in these modern casual times. — Jeanne D.

Dear Mrs. D.: The hostess need not necessarily be served last, but she should never be served first. The lady on the host's or hostess' right, the guest of honor, is served first. The food is then passed around the table counter clockwise, either by a waitress or from hand to hand, and the host is served last.

FIT TO BE CHAINED — Straight from office or class to that favorite candle-lit bistro, this smart little swing-shift winer makes the switch from day to date time right in stride. In that classic of classics, herringbone tweed, the gently rolled turtle neck and dash of chain belt makes it a must for any fall wardrobe.

Ham Dinner

A ham dinner will be served at Masonic Temple, Highland, Tuesday, Aug. 8, by Highland Chapter, No. 385, OES. Serving starts at 6 p. m.

A Cool and Colorful Sure Bet

A cool and colorful sherbert-melon boat is a "sure bet" for a summer party's refreshments. The boat and melon balls are prepared well in advance of the party, covered and chilled in the refrigerator until serving time. Scoops of delicate apricot or tangerine sherbet, or both, are set in place just before the majestic melon is brought to the table.

Sherbet is not just a dessert delicacy. Many fine restaurants serve it as an accompaniment for the meat course. This trick could easily be duplicated at home. Apricot or pineapple are flavors especially pleasing with pork, ham and poultry. Scoops of lime or orange are colorful additions to a salad plate of cold cuts and cheese.

Home Storage of Sherbet: Store sherbet at 5 degrees below zero if possible. The sugar content of the mixture lowers the freezing point and makes this low temperature best for storage. Best dipping temperature for sherbet is 5 degrees above zero. Do keep the carton tightly closed.

When using the half-gallon carton, spoon sherbet from center to side of the carton. After

Saratoga Begins 104th Thoroughbred Season Monday

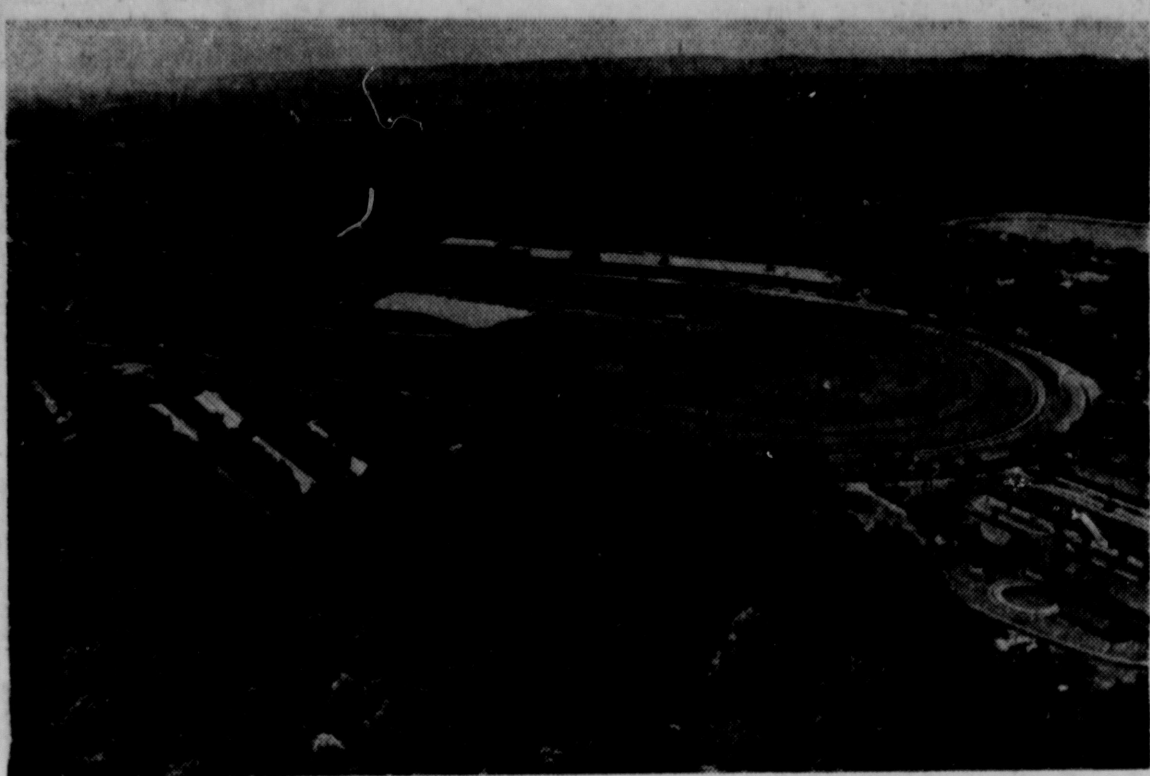

One hundred and five years ago Thoroughbred racing first came to Saratoga. One hundred and four years ago racing moved across Union Avenue from Horse Haven to the present site of the Saratoga race track. On Monday, July 31, the New York Racing Association will open a 24-day meeting at the Spa, a meeting during which will be contested 19 stakes races.

There will be five stakes during the first week of the meet, which concludes on August 26, and the first Saturday will present the 40th running of the $50,000 added Whitney, an allowance stake of a mile and a furlong.

Opening day will be marked by the $20,000 added Flash, the first of seven stakes at the meeting for two-year-olds. It is at Saratoga that two-year-olds have their finest moments, where the best in the country face each other with the $75,000 added Hopeful, on closing day, the fitting climax of the meeting.

Slate Travers Stakes

Three-year-olds also frequently decide, or at least make a long stride towards, the championship of their division at the Spa. This year will be no exception when the $75,000 added Travers is run on the third Saturday of the meeting, August 19. At that time the leading three-year-olds in the country are expected to meet with the championship on the line. The two who so far have built up the most formidable recommendations—Mrs. Edith Bancroft's Damascus and the Tartan Stable's Dr. Fager—both are expected to start.

READY FOR OPENER—Saratoga race track has been painted, polished and groomed for its 104th season beginning next Monday. The finest stables in the country are expected to race their top horses at the ancient track where 19 stakes events will be offered during the 24-day meet. (Photo by New York Racing Assn.)

Dr. Fager has finished first in all five of his starts this year, although he was disqualified from first place in the Jersey Derby. All his starts were in stakes and he won the Gotham, Withers, Arlington Classic and Rockingham Special. Damascus has won seven of ten starts. His stakes victories came in the Bay Shore, Wood Memorial, Preakness, Belmont, Leonard Richards and Dwyer. He was second in the Gotham and DuPont and third in the Kentucky Derby.

The Travers is the oldest stakes race in the United States, predicated on the North American continent only by Canada's Queen's Plate. First run in 1865—the year racing started on the present site of the Saratoga track—the Travers will be run this year for the 98th time.

Saratoga is a tradition of racing. It is the oldest track in the country still in operation and, of the 19 stakes on the schedule, 11 will be run for the 50th time or more this year. At Saratoga are pleasant surroundings, the best in racing.

While the Travers is the top race for three-year-olds and the Hopeful the goal of two-year-olds, the fillies and mares in those age divisions have not been overlooked. On the second Saturday, August 12, is the $50,000 Alabama, limited to three-year-old fillies, and on August 23 is the $50,000 added Spinaway, limited to juvenile fillies and frequently called the "Filly Hopeful."

Successful Innovation

An innovation of the NYRA at Saratoga last year—A Day At The Races—proved so successful that it will be on the program again this year. It consists of an all-day session, starting at about 8:30 a. m., of morning workouts, a tour of the National Museum of Racing, a racing show featuring racing personnel such as jockeys and trainers, a box lunch and nine races in the afternoon. Tickets may be bought, without reservation, early each morning

THEY'RE OFF—This will be the scene at 2 p. m. Monday when starter George Cassidy (shown at stand at right), gets the horses into the starting gate in preparation for the first race which marks the beginning of Saratoga's 104th thoroughbred racing season. at the east end of the grandstand.

The racing program provides stakes races for all divisions. The older horses have the Whitney on the main track, the Bernard Baruch and the Seneca on the turf course. Older fillies and mares have the Diana Handicap and jumpers have four stakes, two for the hurdlers and two for steeplechasers.

First post time at Saratoga is at 2 p. m. each day and the daily double is on the first two races. For the benefit of those who can't get to the track on Saturdays, the stakes event each Saturday will be telecast live in color. Check your local listings for time and channel.

Cepeda's Bat Sizzles

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

Every time Orlando Cepeda kisses tomorrow goodbye, the St. Louis Cardinals' future grows brighter.

Cepeda, enjoying his finest season in six years, drove in three runs with a pair of homers Friday night as the Cardinals overpowered Atlanta 9-1 and protected their two-game lead in the National League race.

The slugging first baseman smacked a single in addition to his 16th and 17th homers while boosting his batting mark to .346 and topping his 1966 RBI total of 73 by two.

"Every series is big to us—every game is big," Cepeda said after the Cardinals' fifth victory in their last six games. "I'm always confident about our chances, but I don't think ahead. I concentrate on tonight's game."

"If you win tonight's game, you don't have to worry about next week or next month."

While Cepeda concentrated on the present, Houston's Rusty Staub looked ahead to two months of tomorrows in his bid for the NL batting title after delivering four runs with a double and single in the Astros' 9-3 triumph over Pittsburgh.

Has .360 Mark

"I just try to keep going every day," said Staub, who leads the league with a .360 mark. "I don't think about my hitting when I come to bat. If you think I must have a hit this time, then you are really in trouble."

Asked what he thought it would take to capture the batting championship, the 23-year-old outfielder replied: "It's too early to be thinking about that. We got two months to go."

Elsewhere, second place Chicago kept pace with St. Louis by trimming Cincinnati 6-2. Los Angeles blanked the New York Mets 2-0 and San Francisco whipped Philadelphia 7-2.

Cepeda hit a solo homer in the third inning and connected again with Curt Flood aboard in the sixth, helping right-hander Dick Hughes breeze past the Braves with a six-hitter. Light hitting Dal Maxvill drilled four hits and drove in three runs while Flood, back from the disabled list after a two-week absence, had two hits and scored twice.

"We've got a good club, particularly since Flood is back now," said Cepeda, who is on the way to his best win-up since 1961, when he hit .311 with 46 homers and 142 runs batted in.

Staub doubled home two runs in a four-run first inning burst and delivered two more with a sixth inning single, leading the Astros out of the cellar. Dave Giusti went the distance for the victory, scattering 10 hits. Ferguson Jenkins brought his record to 13-8 by checking Cincinnati on eight hits while Clarence Jones and Don Kessinger each poked a two-run single to pace the Cubs' attack.

Tony Perez hit his 19th homer for the Reds.

Left-hander Claude Osteen scattered seven hits as the Dodgers dropped the Mets into last place, one half game behind Houston. Wes Parker's triple and a throwing error by left fielder Tommy Davis gave Los Angeles a 1-0 edge in the first inning, and Al Ferrara homered in the eighth.

Willie McCovey drove in two runs with a homer and single. Tom Haller doubled two more home and Juan Marichal recorded his first victory in three weeks as the Giants humbled the Phillies.

Marichal who hadn't won since July 8, allowed seven hits in gaining his 13th victory against eight defeats.

Roberts, Zeeh Win In Jaycee Tennis

Dave Roberts and Bill Zeeh of Kingston have reached the semi-finals of the New York State Jaycee tennis tournament, being conducted at Forsyth Park in conjunction with the State Jaycee Sports Spectacular.

Roberts, a member of the Kingston High tennis team and second seeded in the tournament, beat Joe Nicandri, 6-4, 6-2, in the 18-and-under boys division.

Top seeded Jim Kinley of Pearl River also moved into the semi-finals with a 5-7, 7-5 and 6-2 marathon win over Bill Johns.

Zeeh, playing his first year of competitive tennis, won both of his matches in the 16-and-under class. He stopped Kaplan, 6-2 and 7-5 and won from Roebuck, 6-2, 6-2.

Both local contestants had their semi-final matches scheduled this morning. Zeeh was slated to play Bannigan from Utica at 9 o'clock while Roberts was listed to oppose Dick Shield of Nyack.

Finals in the 16-and-under class were scheduled to begin at noon and the 18-and-under finals at 1 p. m.

Jack Baer is local Jaycee tennis tournament chairman. Al Miller, tennis coach at State University (New Paltz), was director and N. Jansen Fowler, president of the Kingston Tennis Assn., was assistant director.

Champions and runners-up, as well as track and golf winners, will be feted at 5 o'clock today at the Gov. Clinton Hotel, when the banquet will be held.

Gene Sarazen, one of the all-time great golfers, will be the guest speaker at the banquet.

Long Islanders In State Finals

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP) — It will be an all-Long Island final for the New York State Golf Association championship today over the par-70, 6,544-yard Nassau Country Club course.

Favored to succeed 18-year-old Nick Raasch of De Witt is the tall and handsome lad who beat the Upstater in the second round, 22-year-old John Baldwin of Port Washington.

Facing Baldwin in the 36-hole final, scheduled to begin at 8 a. m., will be Peter Bostwick Jr., son of the polo and steeplechase ace of yesteryear. Bostwick, from Locust Valley, lost his Long Island amateur crown to the six-three Baldwin at Sands Point recently.

Baldwin, a graduate student at the University of Miami, has been outstanding throughout the week as he conquered crack players by his ability to clip par figures over the exacting layout that was built before the turn of the century.

In the semifinals, Baldwin was two strokes under par as he tossed four birdies at Gene Francis of Sea Cliff, who bowed, one down, Francis, erstwhile Northeastern champion, had three birdies, one the result of a 52-foot putt at the eighth. In losing, Gene had a 70.

Chance Gets 1st Hit As Twins Drub Bosox

By RON RAPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer

Dean Chance's betting average is now .003 and don't think for a minute that makes him unhappy. Before Friday night it was .000.

Chance coasted to his 12th victory against Boston Friday as the Twins crashed the Red Sox 9-2. But a mere hint single in the fourth inning was the high point of the game for the star right-hander.

Chance even more pleased with himself was the fact that the hit came off Boston's ace Jim Lonborg when just a day or so ago he'd despaired of breaking his string against the Red Sox' fast-baller.

"I haven't got a hit all year and now I've got to face Lonborg and that fast ball," he'd said. Now it's Lonborg's turn to cry, if not for giving up Chance's hit, then for the other 15 that Minnesota got off him and two other Boston pitchers.

Elsewhere in the American League Friday, Cleveland beat Baltimore 1-0 in 12 innings, Detroit took Chicago 7-4 and Washington clubbed California 8-2. Kansas City and New York were rained out.

Harmon Killebrew's 30th home run in the first inning got the Twins off to a good start and they scored seven more times in the fourth inning to cool off the Red Sox who have been making a serious bid for the league lead.

Phil Ortega limited California to six hits, and Ken McMullen and Frank Howard each drove in two runs for the Senators. Washington scored five times in the seventh inning.

WATER BALLET—Aquatic dancers perform pool maneuvers in finale at Symphony Hollow Day Camp. Youngsters 8 to 15 participated in the daily sessions which included arts and crafts, swimming, music instruction and a variety of other activities. (Freeman photos by Wagenfohr)

Unique Effort Culminates Area Camp

Symphony Hollow Camp on Fawn Road in the Blue Mountain section of the Town of Saugerties, offers something unique in the realm of summer day camps.

Over the past two-weeks children 8 to 15 have been experiencing musical enrichment under the direction of Mrs. Beatrice Bright.

As a culmination of their efforts, the children presented excerpts from two famous operas and a water ballet Friday.

The Magic Flute by Mozart and The Barber of Seville by Puccini were presented with arias, choruses and narration. During the daily sessions music campers prepared their own scenery and scripts and rehearsed vocal and instrumental selections.

In addition to the musical aspects of the camp, swimming in the large heated pool and a program of arts and crafts were offered.

Marsha Bright was director of the water ballet. Mrs. Judith Honeywood was in charge of the arts and crafts sessions. Assisting Mrs. Bright were Mrs. Gloria Smith, co-director; Nancy Bolinder, Marsha Bright and Robin Standiford, assistants.

A second session of music camp will start in early August and will run for two weeks.

Second Field Event Planned For City Parks

A second Field Day for City Parks will be held Tuesday at Forsyth, thanks to the success of the first such event held two weeks ago at Hutton Park.

The day will start 10:30 a. m. with an organization meeting and message of greeting for the children. All events of the Hutton Park field day will be repeated.

Contests will be primarily between Forsyth and Loughran Parks for the most points in the various events. Highlight of the day is expected to be pie and watermelon eating contests. In all, 10 events will be held for children in four age categories — Junior Boys, Junior Girls, Senior Boys and Senior Girls.

Refreshments will be provided at noon. Playground directors may be contacted for details.

Miami Beach GOP's Choice For 1968

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Republican National Chairman Ray Bliss said today Miami Beach has been chosen by the party's site selection committee for the 1968 GOP nominating convention.

Bliss, making the announcement after a six-hour closed-door meeting that lasted into the early hours, said the committee's recommendation is subject to approval by the National Committee in September, but a party spokesman said the decision "in effect" means this year's Mecca would be the convention site.

Chicago, the only other city still under consideration, was rejected because of the limited seating facilities in the Chicago amphitheatre, Bliss said.

The convention is scheduled for the week of Aug. 5, 1968. Bliss said Miami Beach was not asked to raise its offer of $650,000 in cash and $150,000 in goods and services that extend to such fine detail as baby-sitting service for the children of delegates. The city had said it would go to $1 million or more for the convention.

Chicago reportedly had made an offer of about $900,000.

A fire destroyed McCormick Place, Chicago's new convention hall, Jan. 16.

Blast Injures Plumbers

LAKE LUZERNE, N.Y. (AP) — Two plumbers were injured Friday when an explosion ripped through a house in this village west of Glens Falls.

John Washburn, 51, and Paul Hoving, 27, both of Glens Falls, were installing a hot water tank in the house, police said. The explosion blew a furnace apart, broke several windows, damaged a section of a porch and ignited a fire that damaged the first floor of the two-story dwelling.

The men were taken to Glens Falls Hospital in serious condition. Police said leaking gas near the men's torches may have caused the explosion.

Vote Down Pardon

FIVIZZANO, Italy (AP) — Two more Italian villages have voted not to forgive or free German Maj. Walter Reder whose troops slaughtered nearly 1,800 civilians in reprisal killings during World War II.

The inhabitants of Vinca and San Terenza Monti, in Northwest Italy, voted unanimously Thursday to reject Reder's plea. He asked for a pardon from his life sentence so that he could be with his aged mother, and the Interior Ministry asked for the public sentiment in the towns affected by his actions.

'Chamber Boy' Feels Fine

NEW YORK (AP) — "I feel fine," said 13-year-old Bruce Taylor, who was flown here from Annapolis, Md. on Thursday by a Navy helicopter which set down in Central Park, close to Mount Sinai Hospital.

The youth, to combat gas gangrene, is receiving oxygen-therapy treatments in one of the few hyperbaric chambers in the country and the only one — at Mount Sinai — in New York.

The hyperbaric chamber is so-called because the oxygen in it is maintained at higher than normal barometric pressure. Gas gangrene organisms cannot live in the high-oxygen environment.

Bruce enters the chamber at eight-hour intervals, each treatment lasting two hours.

"When they took me into the chamber the first time," he said Friday, "I was frightened, but then a nurse told me a little about it and now I like it."

Reagan Kin Freed

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) —

Mrs. Maureen Elizabeth Sills, daughter of Gov. Ronald Reagan and his first wife, actress Jane Wyman, has been granted an interlocutory divorce from her husband, David, 28.

Her suit charged extreme cruelty and grievous mental suffering. Mrs. Sills, 26, did not seek alimony but was granted use of her maiden name. The couple married on Feb. 28, 1964 and had no children.

New Paltz Conservation Site To Be Dedicated on Sunday

A new $340,000 regional Conservation Department headquarters office at New Paltz will be dedicated Sunday, July 30, State Conservation Commissioner R. Stewart Kilborne has announced.

The public is invited to attend the dedication ceremony and "open house" at 2:30 p. m. Sunday. The new building is located on a 10-acre site at 21 South Putt Corners Road, New Paltz.

Construction of the headquarters allows the Department to centralize services previously provided from several offices, Commissioner Kilborne said. About 40 "indoor" and 60 to 80 "field" personnel will serve the Mid-Hudson area from this regional office.

It is the new headquarters for Region 8, Division of Fish and Game, which includes Dutchess, Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Sullivan, Ulster and Westchester Counties. Poughkeepsie formerly was headquarters for this region.

The new building is also headquarters for District 13, Division of Lands and Forests. This district includes Orange, Rockland, Sullivan and Ulster Counties. Its former headquarters were at Middletown.

The Department's Division of Conservation Education and Motor Boats will also use the new regional office.

The single-floor, modified "L-shaped" structure is built primarily of redwood and stone masonry. It has 15 office rooms, a conference room with a capacity of 75 to 80 persons, a laboratory, a photographic dark room, a mimeograph room, a small lunchroom and a fallout shelter. These provide about 20,500 square feet of space. A 50-vehicle parking lot now serves the headquarters, and a workshop and storage building will be constructed.

Reynold Doerer, associate civil engineer in the Department's Engineering Unit, supervised the planning and construction of the regional office. Barker and Henry of Glens Falls were the consulting architects and H. R. Resnick of Newburgh was the general contractor.

Tuesday Night at Britts

Screening for County Queen

An orientation meeting of prospective contestants in this year's Miss Ulster County Pageant will be held with the pageant committee Tuesday

p. m. at Britts Community Room, Kingston Shopping Plaza. Another orientation session is scheduled next Tuesday, Aug. 8 at a New Paltz site.

The pageant to name a new Miss Ulster County will be held Sept. 16 at Saugerties High School auditorium, according to Herbert G. Lachmann, executive director.

All prospective contestants whether nominated or not may attend and nominations will be accepted at the meetings.

Winner of the competition will receive a scholarship to the college of her choice and also qualifies for participation in the Miss New York State Pageant, a preliminary to the Miss America Pageant at Atlantic City, N. J.

Contestants must be between 17 and 27, and a high school senior by Sept. 1, and never have been married.

Entry blanks may be found at many local business establishments, or nominations may be made on any paper listing the name, address, age, school or work and the name of the sponsor. There is no obligation to the sponsor in the pageant.

All inquiries or entry blanks may be sent to Miss Ulster County Pageant, Saugerties, 12477.

Pray for Racial Peace

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Sunday has been designated by Gov. Rockefeller as a day of prayer for racial peace and reconciliation in New York State.

In a related action Friday, the governor joined Louisiana's Gov. John J. McKeithen in requesting a meeting of the National Governors' Conference to map ways of halting racial disturbances in the nation.

The governor, in issuing the proclamation, said he was responding to the request of President Johnson.

Rockefeller called upon residents to "go into their churches and pray for peace in this land we love."

He said no one "can help being saddened and dismayed by the waves of violence which have beset the cities of our nation."

"While we must insist on the maintenance of law and order to protect lives and property," Rockefeller said, "we must at the same time recognize and respond to the deep human problems which exist in the ghettos."

Detroit Peaceful

Dazed People Push Ahead

DETROIT (AP) — Peace returned to Detroit today and its dazed people pushed ahead with repairing the billion-dollar ravages of one of history's worst racial explosions.

A curfew and the ban of sales of liquor remained in effect. Heavily armed police and National Guardsmen patrolled the streets.

City Secure, Romney

But Gov. George Romney said military commanders and law officers "assure me that the city is now secure."

In the 12th Street District where racial terror erupted Sunday with pillaging, burning and sniper fire, there was tension but little trouble.

Shortly after midnight a National Guard captain leaped into a Jeep and sped down the blitzed corridor where block after block of stores and homes were torched by looters.

He returned within minutes to say "Two guards in a warehouse reported hearing two shots in the distance."

A soldier at 12th and Grand Boulevard leveled his rifle at a passing automobile which was violating the curfew. He did not stop the driver, who a day ago might well have been shot.

"So long as they seem to be getting out of here, we don't do anything," he said.

Death Toll 40

One more death brought the toll to 40, but it was a border line case, typical of those that occur on nearly every Friday night in the teeming section where many of the city's 600,000 Negroes live.

Palmer Gray Jr., a 21-year-old Negro, was shot to death by a policeman answering a call for a domestic disturbance.

Gray, police said, had been threatening three people with a weapon when ordered to, he reached into a pocket as he advanced on the officer and was brought down by a single bullet.

No new injuries were reported, leaving the total at 347 hospitalized, hundreds more treated and released on whom no accurate tally was kept.

The count of fires, mounting 50 by the hour early in the week, was cut off at 1,364.

Army paratroopers, withdrawn from the line earlier in the day, poised at staging areas within the city ready to thrust back should trouble occur.

There was doubt they would be needed, however, and their commander indicated no change in plans to return them to bases in the South sometime next week.

A hospital spokesman said the child had suffered first and second degree burns along the arms, legs and abdomen. He was admitted to the hospital Friday night.

According to Mutual Aid, Kenneth was doused with gasoline when a 12-year-old boy reportedly began to spray gasoline from a container with his hands. The older child then allegedly lit a match and Kenneth was in flames.

An informed source said the two boys were playing with a group of children on East Stout Avenue in Port Ewen, 7:30 p. m. when the incident occurred. The source noted that young Kenneth was not wearing a shirt, only summer shorts, when the tragedy struck.

An investigation is currently being conducted into the matter.

LONDON (AP) — Despite abstentions by dissident Laborites, the House of Commons Thursday night endorsed the Labor government's long-range plan to pull British forces out of Southeast Asia in the next decade.

The new defense policy will cut all British forces by one-fifth, halve forces in Singapore and Malaysia by the early 1970s and close down Southeast Asia bases by the mid-1970s. It was approved 297-230, short of Labor's full-strength 96-vote margin.

THE COLORFUL WORLD OF ENTERTAINMENT

FULL WEEK'S TV LISTINGS FOR WEEK OF JULY 30th THRU AUGUST 5th

"Lucy" is on the fall schedule for her sixth season—depending on how you compute the ebullient star's longevity on the home tube. (Lucille Ball first appeared as "Lucy" in 1951.) This year, she is again on CBS, in color. Monday evenings.

'Lucy'—Queen of Comedy to Millions of Viewers World-Wide

By EDGAR PENTON

HOLLYWOOD — Mention "Lucy" almost anywhere on earth and people know you are talking about Lucille Ball.

Lucy is the reigning queen of international television comedy whether her antics on "The Lucy Show" are televised in Toledo, Toronto or Tokyo.

What is the secret of the red-haired actress long and successful reign?

"Lucy," a close friend observes, "survives on the strength of her own comic genius."

The exceptional world-wide television success of "The Lucy Show" is highlighted by the fact that the series is now being viewed in 64 foreign countries as well as on the full network facilities of CBS-TV in the United States—and the show goes into its sixth season this fall, 8:30-9 p. m. Eastern time, Monday.

"American comedy shows usually do not do very well in non-English-speaking countries," says Bernard Weitzman, vice-president of Desilu's international television sales operations, "but 'The Lucy Show' is an exception."

"This is because Lucy needs little interpretation through subtitles or translations. Her actions, her animation, her falls, her expressions—all are easy for viewers anywhere to understand."

"We have no problem, for example, in successfully selling the series in South America where American comedies are not always top sellers."

Lucy has been playing Lucy since that landmark in television history October 15, 1951, when the freshman series titled "I Love Lucy" premiered on CBS-TV.

The series quickly became a must for television viewers and soon climbed into the top-10 of all ratings. Americans everywhere set aside Monday evenings as the time to watch Lucy and her costar and husband, Desi Arnaz.

When "I Love Lucy" finished production in 1958, Lucy and Desi made a limited number of special one-hour shows which were televised through 1959.

In October 1960, Lucy returned to Broadway where she started her show business career, to star in the musical comedy, "Wildcat." She continued in that hit play until illness forced her to withdraw from the cast.

Then in 1961 Lucy returned to television with her new "The Lucy Show," but without Desi.

Critics gloomily forecast that the comedy series, with Lucy carrying on alone, would never make it.

Needless to say, "The Lucy Show" was a smashing success on CBS, and has rarely been pushed out of the top ratings by Monday night opposition despite all the high-powered, concentrated efforts of rival programs.

In June of this year Lucy

(UPI TELEPHOTO)

won her third Emmy—her first for "The Lucy Show."

Millions of television viewers watched as the "queen of television comedy," as she was introduced by master of ceremonies Joey Bishop, stood at the podium of the audience-packed main ballroom of Los Angeles' Century Plaza Hotel to accept the gold statuette. She was a little tearful as she thanked members of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences for the honor.

"I love my work," she said. "Thank you for giving me this for doing it."

The next morning Lucy returned to Desilu's sound stage 12 to rehearse for a new episode starring Milton and Ruth Berle.

Lucy demonstrates her keen interest in the half-hour comedy series by personally supervising scripts and helping to create ideas to keep "The Lucy Show" moving at its fast and funny pace.

Production for the series' 1967-68 season is moving well, with Lucy signing several well-known guest stars to top-line segments of her show. Included are Jack Benny, Frankie Avalon, Jacques Bergerac, Robert Goulet and the Berles.

"Although Lucy carries the show with great flair and high comedy style," notes Gary Morton, executive producer, "it is vital that we have top guest stars appearing periodically."

"We try to cast a top star when we have a suitable script and it's a challenge to build scripts for such top stars."

Producer Tommy Thompson points out that although "The Lucy Show" is basically a comedy, music is very important to the series.

"We have a live orchestra conducted by Wilbur Hatch in the studio when we film the show. This adds a great deal to its production values."

"The musical episode with Frankie Avalon now completed for the new season should be an outstanding show."

One of the best observers of Lucy in action is Gale Gordon. The veteran character actor has played Lucy's boss, Mr. Mooney, during the long run of "The Lucy Show."

"Lucy is the greatest in the world," comments Gordon.

Gale recently was asked what special qualities he saw in the red-haired comedienne that set her apart from others.

"Two things—boundless energy and sincerity. She believes in everything she does and commits herself totally even to little things."

Lucy not only commits herself to the "little things" in preparing the series, but remains a determined and dedicated performer in front of the cameras—all three of them.

The series uses the famous three-camera technique pioneered on the old "I Love Lucy" show, to catch all of the action from different vantage points. The final half-hour film is edited from the best scenes of all three.

"It's a wonderful way to do a comedy show," says director Jack Donohue. "We also have a full audience watching the show to obtain natural reactions and spontaneous applause. We don't believe in artificial laugh tracks. Fortunately, 'The Lucy Show' doesn't need one."

Lucy and her regulars — Gale Gordon, Mary Jane Croft and Roy Roberts (he's new this year in the role of Mr. Mooney's boss) — and guest stars just don't show up to film the show each Thursday night. The entire cast rehearses three full days prior to filming on the fourth.

When watching the show being filmed or telecast, observers are amazed that the lively, zany Lucy character has remained virtually unchanged throughout all the years of television.

She's still a tall, red-haired lady who is often accident-prone and who has an unflinching penchant for getting into trouble.

This was Lucy Ricardo on "I Love Lucy" and is Lucy Carmichael on "The Lucy Show" more than a decade later.

Apparently the "Lucy" character will stay as long as Miss Ball is willing to devote her time to television clowning for the millions who love the Ball game.

Seeking the Sensations In a Series of Science

BY STAN MAAYS

HOLLYWOOD — We are only in the middle of our 20th Century looking forward to many fruitful years yet those problems from CBS-TV telling us about the 21st Century figure they're good for just one more year.

"The problem is that we're running out of products to show," says Peter Poor, a director of the documentary series.

"It's easy to get these far-out thinkers in science to tell us about the future, but the things they talk about are either classified or not yet in existence."

Poor, who looks more like one of Gomer Pyle's barracks buddies than someone caught up in the fascination of tomorrow's world, told about roaming around a big lab one day.

"It's in the nooks and crannies of these places that you find things going on," he said.

"One scientist was working on some kind of synthetic illuminator. He told me he was producing a green light out of a laser. I asked him what does it do? 'Well,' he replied, 'I don't know yet, but it isn't pretty.'"

The 20th Century series, nestled in an early Sunday evening time slot for nine years, and succeeded by The 21st Century the past two seasons is one of CBS-TV's most successful projects. Ratings have remained at the encouraging level. And subject matter has provoked many classroom discussions.

Poor is currently in California tapping the knowledge banks of professors at Stanford University for next season's programs. "No matter how many times we come to the coast we always seem to wind up at Stanford," says Poor. "There's so much going on up there in the technology field."

"One of the great computer men in the country there has programed a machine to conduct psychiatric interviews. In a test it fooled a doctor."

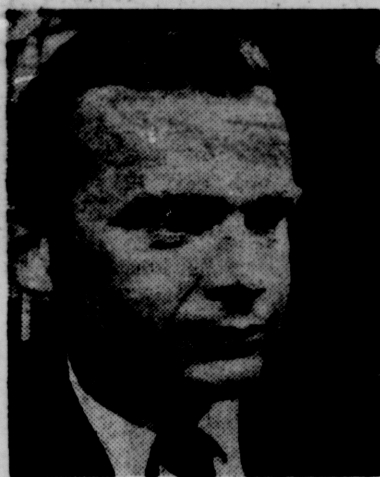

The Department of Defense is pretty liberal in what they'll allow the series to cover. But they draw the line if it borders on national security.

Poor is itching to get into one "classified area" that doesn't really fall under the national security category but yet is still out of bounds for some guy with an inquisitive camera.

"It's the games scientists play with computers," confides Poor, with an impish smile. "These take place at night behind locked doors of places like the Rand Corp. The computers, closed down from the day's labors, are available for things like simulated wars and whatever else they can break down into facts and figures."

Many years on the documentary beat has had a profound effect on Poor—especially his social life. "I'll casually mention some new creation in laser science at a cocktail party and all talking stops," he says. "They gather around and . . . well, I'm usually good for about 15 minutes."

PETER POOR

No Longer Funny

Bill Cosby will never again do one of his very funniest comedy routines. It's the one about getting revenge on a character named Junior Barnes (the real name of a friend), who hit Bill with a slushy snowball. "I've dropped the routine, because Junior Barnes died a couple of months ago," Bill told TV Scout.

Funny Happenings

Some funny things happened during the filming of the first Malibu U show at California's Malibu Beach. Seems a big, "unscheduled" wave broke behind Rick Nelson at one point. It was one of several instances where they realized they were staging the show too close to the ocean. Seems one of the production crew read the wrong tide estimate, one meant for a beach five miles south. Another time Rick was standing on a rock to introduce a number. They almost didn't get him back because the tide came in so fast.

Murder in Her Eyes!

By STAN MAAYS

HOLLYWOOD—Anne Baxter, looking very chic in modified-Mod attire was in the right setting to talk about the movie she's just completed for NBC-TV's World Premiere series.

She was lunching in the Scam restaurant, 18 floors up overlooking the Sunset Strip, and was still emotionally "high" over "The Midnight Patient."

"It's one big, long, group therapy session," she said, describing the movie due for release next fall. "Of course, it's not all just sitting around being analyzed."

"We have a murder! And murder, you know, is the skimmed milk of TV. But our murder, ah!—You see it recreated in my eyes! The action is in the pupil of the eye! You'll feel bolted to your chair!"

Miss Baxter, who recently resumed her career after four years of ranching in Australia and New Mexico, speaks in that cultivated voice movie fans are familiar with.

Gig Young and Patrick O'Neal are co-starred with Miss Baxter in "The Midnight Patient," and she is lavish in her praise for the imaginative directing by Norma Lloyd.

From her description of the movie it was suggested it might be too strong a cup of tea for viewers weaned on much-less potent fare.

"Most television programs," she smiled, singling out Star Trek as an example, "are like a half-dozen comic strips rolled into one. You've got everything from Flash Gordon to Prince Valiant."

"When our movie comes on we will be the walnut among the peanuts."

Pausing to light a cigarette, Miss Baxter had another thought: "TV is the catalyst. 'War and Peace' is for the big screen. But in movies made for TV the camera climbs into an actor's, as well as, the viewer's mind. You can feel it let in! A good TV director can put words in your mind."

Does the so-called method figure in this formula?

"There is no such thing as one method," she answered. "I've got many methods. Orson Welles put it best years ago when he said, 'The only thing wrong with it is the word THE.'"

The advent of television has changed the whole star system structure. Miss Baxter allows as how the youngsters in TV today don't know how lucky they are.

"The star system—hah!" she shrugs. "Brutish... snobbish! It's no great loss now TV sells the young actresses today. They need no outside publicity, promotion."

HOW TO WRITE A GOOD CLASSIFIED WANT AD . . .

1. IT'S always best to start your advertisement with the name of the article or service you have to offer. If you have an apartment or room for rent or property for sale, start your advertisement with the location and/or town or city in which it is located.
2. BE clear. Readers respond more quickly and favorably.
3. MAKE it easy for the reader-prospect to reach you, when given complete or definite information.

Always insert your telephone number or your name and address. If you do not have regular hours, give a preferred time to have prospects contact you.

4. THE greatest reader attention can be secured by your advertisement by using consecutive insertions. Play safe—a six-day order is best and the rate is lower! You can stop your ad when you get results and the charge will be adjusted to the appropriate rate.
5. PLACE yourself in the reader's position and ask yourself what you would like to know (about your offer). The answer you give will make a good Classified Want Ad.
6. WANT ads that fail to bring satisfaction do so, not through any lack of readership, but because they are often carelessly worded and do not contain enough information to get prompt action.

SHE'S 118—If anyone can offer advice on longevity, it's 118-year-old Tetzumbia DuPea. The second oldest Social Security beneficiary says the trick is to "live for today. Think right, do right, keep busy and don't worry." Mrs. DuPea, whose birthday cake was decorated with a teepee and an Indian village, is a Paiute Indian and reports she has no unfulfilled ambitions and feels she has had a rich and rewarding life. Baseball Is Healthy And It's Human....

BY STAN MAAYS

ANAHEIM — "The biggest myth going around today is the one about baseball dying. Why, it's utterly ridiculous," shrugs Curt Gowdy, senior member of NBC-TV's team covering major league baseball.

"The talk that TV is hurting the game is nonsense. Back in the 30s the auto was so popular they said people would forget going to the games. Then it was radio that was going to hurt the game.

"With more and more leisure time facing future Americans, the four-day work week coming, baseball will become even more popular."

Gowdy was commenting prior to the All-Star baseball game in Anaheim's (Calif.) beautiful new stadium, and also had a word for those critics who want to speed up the game of baseball:

"If they introduced electronic gadgets to light up for balls and strikes and call a runner safe at first they'd turn baseball into an IBM game, with the players becoming robots. No, human judgment is involved and that's important. Take away umpires and their decisions—good or bad—and you'd destroy part of the color and excitement of the game."

Curt Gowdy, now in his second season with NBC-TV on baseball (and 19th in sportscasting), along with Pee Wee Reese and Sandy Koufax, is as relaxed and easy talking at lunch as he is in the TV booth.

When talk got around to the influx of athletes into the ranks of sportscasters, Gowdy wasn't concerned, actually figuring it's a good thing.

Lighting up his pipe, Gowdy remarked: "I think it's a great advantage to have an athlete who has knowledge of a sport, combined with glibness in sportscasting."

"I was an athlete myself, which people tend to forget," he grins, adding, "of course that was some time ago. Back in Wyoming I participated in basketball and other sports (he won six letters at the University of Wyoming)."

Gowdy, naturally, wouldn't admit it, but obviously his own glibness put him in good stead to become a sportscaster.

"I got in just in time," he recalls. "I was just a youngster working around a radio station in 1949. In between sweeping out the place, I got to do a few football games. It was great training before TV came in."

As in team sports, Gowdy is well aware of the necessity of teamwork in sportscasting. He cites a "feeling you can't explain" that exists between himself and Paul Christmar, his partner on American Football League telecasts the past six years.

"Paul couldn't care less about doing play-by-play, which is my chief function, yet he knows just when to come in with a color comment on the game," says Gowdy.

Pee Wee Reese blends in nicely on the baseball games, Gowdy admits. And, of course, it's a little too early to tell about the crew's novice, Koufax, the ex-Dodger. He's coming along fine," although Gowdy says they have to kinda nudge Sandy once in a while to say something.

How would Gowdy class Dizzy Dean?

"Well," he smiles, "there was only one Dizzy Dean in baseball, and there's only one Dizzy in sportscasting."

Lovely, But Longing For Faraway Places

By FRANK LANGLEY

NEW YORK—Andrea Dromm is blonde, blue-eyed, beautiful and busy. Too busy, if you ask her.

"I'm really a loner," the lovely lady said, and the chill in her voice told us she was not kidding. "I like getting off by myself, but I've so much work that I never seem to get the time to do it anymore."

Most of Andrea's work in the past few years has been asking a few million TV viewers: "Is this any way to run an airline?"

Her success in that was mainly monetary, for which she was quite content since it gave her the opportunity to jump off to such places as the island of Formentura in the Mediterranean.

"I love that little island more than most places on earth," she said, and her voice warmed to her words.

"People would call it primitive living since there is no electricity or other modern conveniences. There also isn't much in the way of foods as we think of it. I live mainly on little shrimp, bread, wine and cheese."

"There are so many so-called retreats today that are nothing more than small-time versions of Miami. If you want to get close to nature, you have to pick a place that is far off the beaten path, like this little island."

Andrea is not likely to have too much time for communing with nature in the near future. Her career is booming, not only from the familiarity of the airline commercials, but from the impact she made as the leading lady in "The Russians Are Coming, The Russians Are Coming."

After that she was quickly signed to do another movie, this time with Troy Donahue. In it the beautiful blonde becomes a Jane Bond type complete with all the rigors of such a role including scuba diving and taking spills from cliffs and motorcycles.

And if that wasn't vigorous enough for the lady with the languid loves, she was immediately tabbed afterwards to hostess a telecast titled "Hit the Surf," due on ABC-TV, Thursday, July 20.

As you might guess it is all about surfing with some mighty scenic features filmed off California and Hawaii.

But to us, the most scenic feature is Andrea who serves as a guide and also as a pupil, learning the ways and means of the spirited sport.

"Is this any way to run a TV program? You bet it is."

Ask TV Scout

ANOTHER DAY — Several weeks ago we read many reports about Doris Day doing a television series, but have seen nothing more about it. Do you know the story? O. S., Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

The blonde star and CBS have been talking about a series but to date the only positive action has been an agreement by Miss Day to star in a CBS-produced movie.

CON-VINCED — I am a staunch Vince Edwards fan even though he isn't on television any more. I miss him very much and would like to know if he will ever return? —D. W., Miami, Fla.

There is little hope for his return and certainly no hope for an immediate return in anything but a guest spot. Vince is currently deep in motion picture work having just completed one called "Devil's Brigade" and getting set to play a detective in another.

TRUE BLUE—I've read that The Fugitive will end its run with an episode that clears up the mystery. What about Coronet Blues? That is scheduled to go off after the summer. Will Michael Alden find out who he really is? R. D., St. Paul, Minn.

There will be no final solution on Coronet Blue as there will be with The Fugitive. Michael Alden will remain the anonymous amnesiac right through the past program. With a hot property like this, it would be insane for the producers to kill the premise and let die the possibility of its ever being on again.

Loses 80 Pounds

WARSAW, N.Y. (AP) — George Haynes, 32, of Perry, who a year ago tipped the scales at 520 pounds and now weighs 440 pounds, said, "People always urged me to lose weight but I never listened to them. Everything I ate turned to fat."

Hoping to slim down to 200 pounds, Haynes, who is employed at the Perry Knitting Co., was ordered to the hospital by a physician and will stay there until November. He weighed 462 pounds when he entered the Hospital July 10.

His diet consists of black coffee, tea, water, artificially sweetened soft drinks and vitamin pills. He is allowed no solid food.

Scholars know little about the history of the tribes that lived in Afghanistan before it became part of the Persian Empire during the 500's B.C.

If the cliff looks familiar in Malibu U it's because it's the same one used on Peyton Place when the character played by Susan Oliver fell to her death—or was she pushed? But surely you remember.

Guest Appearance

Bob Denver is making a guest appearance on I Dream of Jeannie as Barbara Eden's son. The last time they worked together it was on a segment of Dr. Kildare, and he played her hippy boyfriend.

She's Almost Trapped:
In a Weekly TV Series

By STAN MAAYS

HOLLYWOOD — A statuesque blonde actress has just escaped a fate worse than that which Batman faces weekly. She was almost trapped in a TV series.

"Honestly," sobbed Sally Kellerman, "I would have wound up in Bellevue weighing 330 pounds."

Now how is it possible that an attractive girl, once described by producer Joe Stefano as the girl with a face that could start a whole new style, could be happy about losing out on a series?

"Because I would be tied down every week," was Sally's emphatic reply. "I'd become a working actress, which is the end of a career! And there are other problems, too."

Like what?
"Well, like what should I wear to the studio each day? And what would I do with my little puppy? I wouldn't want to leave her home alone, would I?"

Certainly not.
"Then there's the problem of frowning."

"Yes, you see this pilot I made and which, thank heaven, didn't sell was From Here to Eternity. I was to play the role that Deborah Kerr had in the movie, and she frowned all the time. Imagine the terrible lines I'd have in my face after 26 weeks!"

Why did you do the pilot in the first place?

"Well, I got this sudden fear of ingratitude. You see, I've turned down scripts at about a four to one ratio. It got so that I felt I couldn't afford to turn down another one."

"When this one came along I was in Canada, a long way away from my friends and advisers. So when I returned to Hollywood, my friends said, 'Sally, how could you let yourself be trapped in a series?'"

SALLY KELLERMAN

And I answered, 'Now you tell me. Where were you when I needed you?'"

So what happened to the pilot?

"Well, luckily for me there was this big blow-up at ABC, remember A lot of brass were fired, and in the process they threw out a lot of proposed series, including From Here to Eternity."

Where does this leave you now?

"I felt that maybe I wasn't meant to do a series, anyway. Something else is in store for me. I've taken up singing again. I used to be under contract to Verve records, but my voice was too breathless then."

"Oh, I ran into Eddie Albert the other day where I go for singing lessons and he told me something wonderful. He said Danny Kaye told him I was his favorite type of girl. Oh, how I'd love to sing and do comedy with Danny on his show."

Didn't have the heart to tell her Danny wasn't renewed.

Cast Iron Sophisticate

By STAN MAAYS

HOLLYWOOD—Avery Schreiber, whose one-season fling in NBC-TV's My Mother the Car a couple of years ago served to establish his image on TV, is returning in a summer series.

Schreiber, who twirled a Jerry Colonna-type mustache as the madcap Capt. Manzini in Jerry known to viewers for his portrayal of the long-suffering taxi driver who has to put up with his loud-mouth passenger (Burns). They've done their act on a number of TV variety shows.

But Schreiber's long suit is biting humor that pokes at political and social mores; one that he perfected as a member of the Second City Company and The Committee. He proudly recalls a high point while in London:

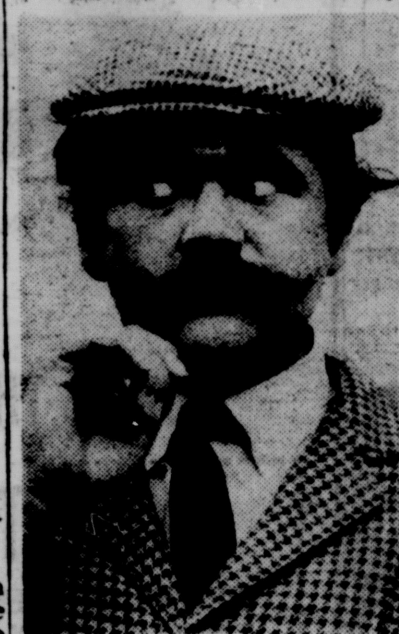

"We were called the 'Cast Iron Sophisticates.' It was during the Cuban crisis and, boy, at first did we get bombed by the Londoners. We were the only U. S. satirical group in England at the time. Can you imagine trying to entertain with our brand of humor before a hostile audience who opposed U. S. policy in Cuba?"

"In our act I played a penny arcade machine that automatically answered questions when Jack coin-fed me. It was the answers to questions from the audience like, 'What are you doing in Cuba?' ('We had the strength to be there.') that prompted a London critic to print his review on the front page."

"For what we had been subjected to, he re-named our act The Battleground, and ended up his article by writing, 'America would have been proud of them.'"

Political satire has staged a rebirth lately, but it almost died with the death of President Kennedy. Schreiber and contemporaries Mort Sahl, Alan Arkin and Andy Duncan all deeply mourned the loss of Kennedy.

"I think we hit our peak during Ike's reign," said Schreiber.

AVERY SCHREIBER

Van Dyke's series is a regular, along with his partner, Jack Burns, on CBS-TV's Our Place.

Our Place, an Ed Sullivan Productions, Inc., series replaces The Smothers Brothers for 10 weeks. In addition to Burns and Schreiber, the Doo-dletown Pipers and the dog puppet Rowlf, there will be a special guest each week.

The Sound Of Silence

By FRANK LANGLEY

NEW YORK — You wouldn't expect a man who makes a healthy living as a radio and television sportscaster to be talking about the values of silence.

But that's exactly what Jack Drees was talking about recently and with a great deal of sincerity.

"The biggest sin a sportscaster can commit," Drees said, "is in not thoroughly knowing his sport. The second is talking too much."

"Take for instance the coverage of a golf match. The biggest part of the action is that tense moment when the pro is on the tee, fairway or green, lining up his shot and setting himself for it."

"I know when I'm watching instead of working, nothing annoys me more than a commentator trying to create drama by whispering as Arnold Palmer stands over a putt worth $20,000. Nobody has to dramatize that situation. The drama is there and the best way to emphasize it is to be absolutely silent and let the drama stand by itself."

Among the coming tournaments Jack will be calling is The Westchester Classic, on August 26 and 27. Telecast by the Sports Network, the event will have the richest purse in golf, $250,000.

"Calling golf is one of the most difficult assignments a sportscaster can have," he said.

"Almost every viewer is a duffer in one respect or another and when you talk about the game you have to be totally aware. There is no margin for error with golfers."

There is many another sportscaster who thinks Drees has a tougher assignment than golf: calling the Kentucky Derby.

JACK DREES

Racing commentators come upon their expertise by calling nine races a day, six days a week. And even then, the caliber of this type of activity is evaluated by how few mistakes are made each day and each race.

"I suppose it is true that calling the Derby is terribly tough," Drees admitted. "It is one race a year and it has to be called right or else every horse player in the country will tab you a bum."

A few seconds later as we left the restaurant, a gravelly voice wafted across the room in our general direction.

"Hey you bum," the voice yelled and when we turned there was Toots Shor who uses the term only on people for whom he has great admiration.

He is the only man we have heard call Jack Drees a "bum."

It is sometimes though that an albino is physically weaker than a normal being, but experiments show that there is no basis for this belief.

What Makes Fannie Run?

By FRANK LANGLEY

NEW YORK — More and more Americans today are rallying around the Flagg — Fannie Flagg that is — and with good reason.

The unlikely designation is quite in keeping with this unlikely young lady who looks like anything but a rising star in the night club and television skies.

But rising she is and rise further she must for Fannie is possessed of the two major ingredients of show business success: talent and ambition.

When first you meet her, neither of these elements is immediately discernible. Fannie looks and talks like an attractive though plain country cousin on a long-awaited visit to the big city.

"I'm so disappointed," she said as we sat down in a dining room at the Algonquin Hotel. Her disappointment was sincere since the famed Rose Room and its "round table" was closed on that day.

"Ever since I've been in New York I've wanted to come to this place and visit that room," she sighed.

Actually, Fannie has been in New York for several years and if there is a single reason for not visiting the place, it is because she has been so busy.

"When I first got here from Birmingham (Ala.) I auditioned in a supper club and got a double job, writing skits and appearing in them.

"A short time later, Candid Camera's Allen Funt took notice of me and asked me to write some skits for his show."

"I was delighted," she said, "but I was too scared to quit the night club job. I guess you'd call that insecurity and I guess you'd be right."

Fannie's sense of insecurity was not too well founded. Soon after starting with "Camera," her boss thought so much of the way she presented her material that he put her on camera. And that was all the hard working young lady needed.

Her popularity rose to such heights that the name Fannie Flagg was beginning to appear in the television listings as the guest celebrities did. And when the invitations for such shows as Merv Griffin and Johnny Carson began coming in, Fannie finally quit her security blanket to concentrate on her television activities.

A combination of corn pone comedy and a martini dry wit, Fannie can regale hippies and hillbillies with equal ease.

"Ah got a little of everything in me maaself," she says with her deep South affectation, "so ah jest try to make maaself layef, and eff it works on me, it works."

FANNIE FLAGG

Just how real is the accent, she is asked.

"Well it's real all right," she said and her voice was just lightly touched with it, "although I really rub it on heavily when I perform."

Fannie feels the accent is essential to the type of act she does to which we both agree and disagree. Perhaps in these initial stages it is true but before long people will "rally round the Fagg," for better cause than a simple southern accent.

Q. What is the interest rate on Freedom Shares?

A. 4.74% compounded semiannually, when held to maturity of 4½ years. The rate is less if redeemed prior to maturity; and they may not be redeemed for at least one year.

A. No. E Bonds continue to return an average of 4.15% when held to their seven-year maturity.

Q. What do Freedom Shares cost?

A. They are issued in face amounts of $25, $50, $75, and $100. Purchase prices are $20.25, $40.50, $60.75, and $81.00.

Q. Can Freedom Shares be bought by themselves?

A. No. They must be bought in conjunction with E Bonds of the same or larger face amounts.

Q. Can I buy as many Freedom Shares as I want, as long as I buy E Bonds of the same or larger amounts?

A. No. On Payroll Savings, Freedom Share deductions are limited to $20.25 per weekly pay period, $40.50 per bi-weekly or semimonthly pay period, $81.00 per monthly pay period. On Bond-a-Month, the limit on Freedom Share deductions is $81.00 per month.

Q. How will the Freedom Shares be registered?

A. Registration must be identical with the E Bonds bought in combination.

He'll Keep Running For One More Year

By FRANK LANGLEY

NEW YORK — Ben Gazzara and Paul Bryan, the character he portrays on the NBC-TV series Run For Your Life, have practically nothing in common. Bryan is soft-spoken, low-keyed, calm and usually cool. Gazzara is the image of his Italian ancestry: volatile with a booming voice and bursting mannerisms that show him to be a man enjoying his life thoroughly and lustily chewing up every minute of it.

The sleep was still in his eyes when we met for lunch at one in the afternoon. Nevertheless he bounded into the booth like an athlete getting ready for the game, unwrapped a long slim cigar and ordered his morning orange juice.

"I've been howling a bit," he explained. "You know in California where I live now, it's little more than work, work, work all year long on the series.

"So when I told my wife (actress Janice Rule) that I was coming east for some contract talks, she knew just what to say: 'Go meet the boys, and howl all night, and get it out of your system, but come home safe.'"

Gazzara is a native New Yorker where he got his start in show business. In legitimate theater circles he is regarded as one of the finest dramatic stars in the country, and earned the reputation when he starred in three successive Broadway hits: "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," "A Hatful of Rain" and "End as a Man."

Asked if he was considering return to Broadway, he smiled, threw his arm out in a "what else" gesture and said, "Ask a soldier if he's thinking about going home. Sure I do. But not right away.

"I'm still enjoying the series but I think three years is enough in any role. I can feel that drying out starting up.

"Despite the excellent writers and production, after such a long period you have to begin to go sour. I haven't reached that point yet, but I can feel it.

"I give the show one more year, and after that, who knows, maybe back to Broadway.

"The only problem is," he said with a booming laugh, "there'll be no more howling all night if I do come back here."

Questions and Answers

MORE THAN ONE—How can the top-rated program of the year be The Bridge on the River Kwai and also the Bob Hope Vietnam Show? It has to be one or the other, but I have head about both.—P.C., Duluth, Minn.

There are several categories in the television ratings. The Bridge on the River Kwai was the top-rated motion picture of the season. The Hope-Vietnam show was the top special (until the Academy Awards beat it out.)

MORE BRASS — Could you please tell me if Herb Alpert's Tijuana Brass will be having another television special? — Cheryl Willer, St. Paul, Minn.

The Alpert group will be starred in the first new Kraft Music Hall "Series of specials," on NBC-TV in September.

CHARLIE'S CHUMS — Our club is terribly fond of Charlie

Brown and especially his television specials. Will there be more?—A.B., Abilene, Texas.

Yes and no. The specials that have been on will be repeated, but there will not be any new ones in the foreseeable future. The producers and Peanuts creator Charles Schulz fear over-exposure.

NEW TREK TIME—Can you tell me the night and the time that Star Trek will be on next season?—H. Kissick, Abilene, Texas.

The space series moves one day, to Friday, but stays in it's 8:30 (EST) time period.

BYE BYE BLUE—If Coronet Blue is going off in the fall will To Tell the Truth and I've Got a Secret come back? If not, what will be in that time period? —Jane Kaposta, Boonville, Ind.

The Carol Burnett Show will move into the Monday night time period now occupied by Coronet Blue.

FUGITIVE FUN — Since the TV series The Fugitive is going off the air after this season, could you please tell us the conclusion to the story. — Anon., Madison, Wisc.

We can, but won't since the producers have asked, and rightfully so, that anyone connected with the final two episodes keep the plot a secret. You can find out for yourself by watching ABC-TV on August 22 and 29 when the shows will be telecast.

No TV Set

Comic Flip Wilson has close to 50 TV appearances lined up in the next 12 months, but he doesn't own a TV set. He travels so much he has no home base. He doesn't mind not getting to see himself. "I know all my punchlines anyway.
